

Undeclared at Truman

Coming into a college without a major declared can be challenging. With the support of academic advisors, your professors, and your peers, we can help make sure you're studying in major and minor areas that match your interests and help make your post-graduation plans clear.

Why is the curriculum perfect for undeclared students?

A liberal arts and sciences curriculum allows you take courses in variety of areas, counting those courses toward either your future major or a general graduation requirement (or both!)

How does Truman support undeclared students in their transition to college?

Your academic advisor (in the Center for Academic Excellence) has been trained to help undeclared students explore their interests and navigate their options. You'll meet with your CAE academic advisor throughout your first year.

Who do undeclared students go to for help choosing a major?

Your CAE academic advisor is your "go-to person," but the Career Center is also a valuable resource.

Our Academic Advisors work one-on-one with incoming students to help them better learn about the different areas they have interests in at Truman. We meet you where you are and help you get immersed in a program you're excited about.

Will I graduate on time?

Yes. While some majors are more "compressible" than others, all Truman majors can be completed in less than 4 years.

Truman has nearly 50 majors to choose from, as well as expert help when it comes to making that choice.

Some helpful questions to ask yourself include:

- ? If I wasn't worried about a career, what kind of ideas, questions, or work would I be interested in doing?
- ? What classes at Truman were not offered at my former school that I'd be interested in?
- ? What kinds of clubs and organizations are interesting to me?
- ? What am I good at already?

I'm nervous about being an undeclared student going into college. What should I know?

Undeclared students represent one of the biggest "majors" in each incoming freshman class –you're in great company!
